

After a long delay due to COIVD-19 the website for the CIE Midterm Meeting, CIE 2021, is now open.

Information is still being added to the website but advice about key dates and deadlines, and the abstract submission system for the conference are available.

Registration is not yet open but an announcement about this will be made once it is. We do have some basic information about registration fees, including that there will be:

- Special early fee for individuals who are members of a CIE National Committee (NC) or Associate National Committee(ANC).
- Special fees for students and those coming from countries with developing economies.

The fee to attend online will be the same as the fee to attend in-person. This reflects the costs to accommodate active online participation, it also allows individuals to “upgrade” to attend in-person if closer to the date of the event they are able to travel.

Please share this information within your wider community, of course to your NC or ANC members (if you are receiving this as an NC or ANC) President – this will help CIE reach out to all who are interested in the exciting topics that we be covered during the conference.

In the meanwhile, hopefully:
